HENDRIX DESPERATE STILL AT LARGE

IT LOOKS LIKE THE FEDERAL OFFICERS AT PARIS AFFRONT TO UNDERTAKE CAPTURE.

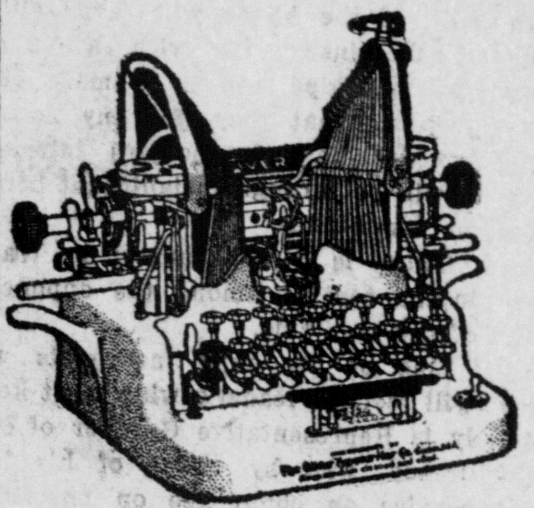

Hendrix Worked in Fields on His Farm Last Week—Looks Like Trouble Ahead—Pontotoc and Garvin County Officers Co-Operating.

Will Hendrix, half breed Indian, under life sentence for murdering his father-in-law and with a previous desperate reputation, who escaped from federal prison at Paris two months ago continues to reside on his farm situated near the east line of Garvin county. A few weeks since, Pontotoc county sheriff notified Paris federal officers that Hendrix was residing peaceably at home, where on federal authorities notified Oklahoma sheriff that a reward of three hundred and fifty dollars would be paid for Hendrix' capture. Since Hendrix was a federal prisoner and lived in another county, Pontotoc officers considered they were under no obligations to earn the reward. Meantime Hendrix' community remained wonderfully freed from federal intrusion. Last week Hendrix worked peaceably on his farm cutting corn stalks. The late quest of officers of Garvin and Pontotoc counties for Hendrix occasioned on account of him shooting at Henry Lohr, a neighbor, who appears threatened. Officers through mistake fired on and wounded each other Tuesday night after they had Hendrix surrounded in a corn field. Through enforced or sympathetic protection by tenants on his farm and relatives there around, with plenty of heavy forests emerging, Hendrix is thought determined "to fight it out all summer."

Citizens and officers well acquainted with Will Hendrix recognize the desperate nature of such unfortunate, desperate minded, murderous hearted Chickasaw citizen.

It has been reported he declares that he shall never leave his farm alive. On the other hand, it is thought by some that he is preparing to make a long get away. In which ever event, it is the unanimous opinion that Hendrix' capture will be a very hazardous undertaking.

It is thought that the sheriff's office, while they desire to do its duty in the apprehension of criminals, believes that the Paris officers should evince more courage and interest in Hendrix' capture. While the sheriff's office has been active in the Hendrix matter, the reasons aside from regard for duty and reputation is an appreciation of Sheriff Charlie Worley of Garvin county, who in many ways has shown his friendship for this county.

"Entered as Second Class matter, March 26, 1904, at the Postoffice at Ada, Okla., under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879."

A woman testifying in a case at McAlester said that she had not talked of the case with a human being, only with lawyers. Now the question is, does she regard lawyers as more or less than human?

Judge Henry M. Furman, of the state court of criminal appeals, has ruled that technical errors are not proper grounds for rehearing in murder cases, and right he is. The idea of a man, guilty of murder, getting a retrial on account of a technicality is absurd, and should be condemned by all. Judge Furman is to be commended for such a ruling, and we are confident will be by the peace loving, law abiding element of our state.—Sallisaw Star-Gazette.

There are twenty republican congressmen who had the courage to defy Speaker Cannon and the trusts and vote against the adoption of the conference report on the new tariff bill. Two democrats voted for it. The vote on the adoption of the measure in the house was 195 to 183. The twenty republicans were Representatives Carey, Wisconsin; Davis, Minnesota; Gronna, North Dakota; Haugen, Iowa; Hubbard, Iowa; Keifer, Ohio; Kendall, Iowa; Lenroot, Wisconsin; Lindbergh, Minnesota; Mann, Illinois; Miller, Minnesota; Murdock, Kansas; Nelson, Wisconsin; Nye, Minnesota; Poindexter, Washington; Southwick, New York; Steenerson, Minnesota; Stevens, Minnesota; Volstead, Minnesota; and Woods, Iowa. The two democrats were Representatives Broussard and Estopinol, of Louisiana.

Henry Clews, the eminent financier, in speaking of the tariff bill, says, "It is unfortunate that the president's wishes for downward revision did not receive earlier consideration by the legislature, because the higher the tariff the more certain it will be a mark for future political attack and agitation. The tariff is rapidly becoming the chief political issue, and the only way to have kept it out of politics was to have submitted to reasonable reductions. Unless all signs fail, it looks as if we should shortly be troubled with another period of disturbing tariff discussion, possibly at the next session of congress, and certainly during the next congressional election. A good many congressmen are already anxiously looking after their fences."

The Kansas City Star and other Taft organs must be greatly put out. The Star favors downward revision of the tariff and during the campaign made much of President Taft's promises in that direction. Now the president comes out with a flat-footed declaration that he will sign the tariff bill in any shape that it passes congress. He also says he does not approve of the course of the 23 republican progressives who voted against Cannon and Aldrich. So another Star hero has fallen. Senator Warner fell some time ago. As a matter of fact President Taft belonged to the millionaire class from the beginning. His association indicated that. His cabinet complexion proved it. The people have nothing to hope for from the leaders of the republican party. They are wedded to the trusts and the rich men who provide the campaign funds to oil their political machine.—Vinita Leader.

PONTOTOC'S JUDGE FURMAN.

Judge Furman, of Pontotoc county, is becoming nationally distinguished as a jurist of profound judgment and unerring sensible decision. Many metropolitan papers are affording favorable mention of some of his late decisions.

Here below is what the Kansas City Journal under the caption "Common Sense Law," has to say:

The Oklahoma criminal court of appeals has made a splendid breach in the wall behind which the technicalities of the law have been so long entrenched. In a decision that rings with common sense, Presiding Judge Henry Furman says, "This court will not reverse a conviction on account of the admission or rejection of evidence unless both error and injury therefrom appears in the record." One would suppose that such a conclusion would follow obviously and in the nature of things in all cases, but unfortunately it is so rare in the annals of criminal jurisprudence in this country as to constitute a shining exception. Law has been defined to be "sublimated common sense," but the trouble is that common sense, sublimated or otherwise, appears to be most common in the craniums of its interpreters, at least in most appellate courts, and therefore it fails in the application however truly it exists in principle.

This wise Oklahoma jurist strikes a keynote of popular discontent leading in many cases to the substitution of lynch law for the regular statutes, when he says in his opinion, "The reversal of just convictions of the guilty upon purely technical questions is the prime cause of want of confidence in the courts. This want of confidence often results in mob violence on the part of a long suffering and outraged public. We have the highest possible authority for this statement, for we are told in the Bible that 'because sentence against an evil work is not executed speedily, therefore the heart of the sons of men is fully set in them to do evil.'"

And thus it appears that the widespread protest which exists today against the law's delays and its trivialities, was recognized and approved in the earliest times of religious history. It is true beyond question, as Judge Furman says, that the multitude of reversals upon purely technical grounds has done more to encourage mob violence and destroy public confidence in courts than all other causes combined. And yet confidence in the courts is the bed rock foundation and essential pre-requisite of free popular government. How long will it take for the general run of appellate judges to recognize this supremely important fact?

ACTION, NOT TALK BRINGS REFORMS.

Oklahoma is becoming known as the state where they "do things." It has become recognized that with the Oklahoma citizen to think is to act. A brilliant illustration of this trait is exhibited in a recent reform of court procedure. Throughout the nation jurists and barristers have proclaimed the need of a revision of court methods that would make it impossible, as an instance, for a murderer to escape the penalty of his crime because a rascally or incompetent prosecuting attorney purposefully or carelessly neglected to dot an i or cross a t in the indictment.

Where others declaimed, an Oklahoma judge set about practical reform, and the supreme court of appeals of the state of Oklahoma has laid down the principle for its own government and that of the inferior tribunals within its jurisdiction, that "no case will be reversed merely upon a showing of harmless error in the trial." In this connection Judge Furman's declaration may be repeated: "The reversal of just convictions of the guilty upon purely technical questions is the prime cause of want of confidence in the courts. This want of confidence often results in mob violence on the part of a long suffering and outraged public."

This reform, as made practical by the Oklahoma court, has attracted favorable press comment throughout the land. Concerning Judge Furman's declaration the New Orleans Times-Democrat says:

The truth of that statement will hardly be controverted in any community whose people have been exasperated by the escape of criminals through inconsequent technical errors of procedure magnified past any just proportion by jurists who esteem the niceties of pleading and practice above substantial justice. If public opinion is not yet strong enough to force reforms in the codes that will prohibit reversal of judgments and verdicts upon trivialities, the next best hope lies in the establishment of such wholesome precedents as that just cited from Oklahoma, and in the elevation to the appellate benches, wherever the dockets show there is need of them, of men who will refuse to be misled, by the arguments of clever technicians or by any absurd reverence of stilted and outworn forms to the betrayal of justice in her own forums.—Oklahoman.

"TARIFF FOR REVENUE ONLY."

Henry Watterson writes again in the Louisville Courier-Journal, his oft reiterated views on the subject of the tariff. He says:

The "Doctrine of Protection," as a policy of confessed subsidy, having for its purpose the development of our early manufactures and claiming to be purely tentative in character, has come to call itself, has not a single remaining foot to stand upon. The "infants" it was employed to nurture reached their maturity long ago. Many of them are a hundred years of age. "The dignity of labor it pretended for a while to conserve has vanished into thin air. The American operative long ago discovered that high tariff does not make high wages. Cannon and Aldrich stand revealed to the common sight for what they are, the merest attorneys of the high protective tariff and predatory wealth.

The hair-splitting of the debates misled only the credulous or the corrupt. The thieves in the South want protection for their raw materials. They plead the robbing must not stop until they get rich like the northern thieves. Some of these northern thieves want free raw materials. The most of them, however, want high duties to cover both subsidized raw materials and subsidized finished products.

Like the gentleman who journeyed from Jerusalem to Jericho, the democratic party has fallen among two classes of thieves.

The internal contradictions which have ever since 1892 given democracy over to division and defeat—making alternately a monster with out a head and an empty bottle with a label—has been simply emphasized by the current tariff discussion.

From the very date of Mr. Cleveland's free trade message of 1887 the rank and file of democrats thought one thing, their leader another thing. The message put Mr. Cleveland distinctly at the head of the tariff reform movement which beginning in 1872 had made such progress in 1883 that it turned down Mr. Randall and the protectionist crowd and elected Mr. Carlisle speaker of the house. The country was then prepared for a tariff bill for revenue only.

But no sooner had Mr. Cleveland shot his bolt than he began to try to draw it back. He sent Mr. Gorman to St. Louis in 1888 with a cut-and-dried platform ignoring his own message, ignoring Mills' bill then before congress and repeating the straddle, with Randall on our flank and old members of his cabinet. Whitney, at the head, to the Chicago convention with another cut-and-dried platform which the convention set aside. When in 1893, he came in, Mr. Cleveland waited a year, then brought forward the Wilson bill, a high protectionist measure, preserving all the intricacies and mystifications of the protective system and because of this doomed to the ignominy it encountered in he house and the perversion in the senate, culminating in perfidy and dishonor. All this was traceable directly to the equivocation which had marked Mr. Cleveland's dealing with the question after his message of 1887.

In view of these things it is not surprising that there should be agreement nowhere. The complications of the tariff enable anybody who chooses thieves and cowards, so that the protective system might get in its work to play double. They were made and intended to lead to the hands of plundering the consumer.

Touching these matters the Courier Journal has sung but a single note. It has first, last and all the time, demanded a tariff for revenue only. It will be satisfied with nothing less. The word protection should be expunged from the congressional vocabulary, wherever it appears it means stealing—whoever would apply it is a robber. A single scale not exceeding fifteen or twenty items, will raise all the revenue we require. By this every taxpayer may know just what he has to pay the government and how much his meat, drink and clothing actually cost him.

Protection is a delusion and a snare.

Every schedule is a marked battery concealing bribery and graft. Every classification is a rifle pit pouring a murderous fire into the helpless consumers! They were so designed. That is why they exist. That is what they are for; to confuse and deceive the people and enable the interests to pluck the goose that lays the golden egg.

Mr. Flynn recently came here from Ardmore and has invested heavily in Sapulpa business affairs. The new daily is creditable and carries a good press service.

WIRELESS TELEPHONES AND TELEGRAPHS COMING

J. B. DICKINSON EXPLAINS THE PROPOSITION TO ADA CITIZENS.

Proposition on Foot to Establish Ten Towers of the DeForrest System in Oklahoma.

J. B. Dickinson, of Oklahoma City, state manager for the Ellsworth company, of New York, who are operating the DeForrest system of wireless telegraphing and telephoning, lectured at the 25,000 club rooms last night to a fairly good sized audience of citizens.

Mr. Dickinson is a scientific man of wide experience and is thoroughly familiar with the wonderful invention of wireless communication.

While the people of this community have likely read and heard a great deal of this wonderful discovery, they were no doubt uninformed as to the progress being made in the north and east by those who have the proposition in hand. It was explained by Mr. Dickinson how successful the proposition had been in the Atlantic coast states, and that those who have charge of the system in Oklahoma propose to erect ten towers in the state for long distance communication. R. A. Barringer and H. M. Parkhurst are working for the Ellsworth company in Oklahoma. They are located at Ada, were instrumental in securing a date for Mr. Dickinson and are anxious that one of these towers be located at this place. Anybody who desires can purchase stock in the company at the par value of $10.00 per share, and, of course, a stock subscription will be necessary for any town securing a wireless tower.

OUR GUTHRIE CORRESPONDENT

Guthrie, August 4.—Mr. W. T. Miller, county treasurer of McIntosh county, asked the opinion of the attorney general regarding the time of expiration of office for county treasurers. Mr. Miller called attention to the fact that January the first came during the busiest time of the county treasurer and that the Oklahoma territorial law provided October the first as the expiration of the office of county treasurer. Attorney General West is of the opinion that the expiration for county treasurers must be the second Monday of January, 1911, for that is the date provided in the constitution that after this date the legislature has jurisdiction and can change it if they so will.

The corporation commission has just issued their docket for the August term. About thirty six cases will be tried during this term, the most important of which is proposed order No. 55 requiring all transportation and transmission companies, all gas water, electric light, heat and power companies to establish and maintain an office within the state of Oklahoma. This provision has been much discussed throughout the state and the decision will be watched for with much interest.

A. M. Young, state bank commissioner, has steadily refused to allow National bank charters for establishing State Banks as feeders. It appears as if the Guthrie National has been able to circumvent this decision of Mr. Young. About January the first they made application to Mr. Young for a State Bank charter and were promptly refused. Later they resurrected an old Territorial bank charter and asked for a $25,000 renewal. Again Mr. Young refused them. They then took the case to the Attorney General for an opinion. The Attorney General held that inasmuch as the bank had always held cash and other assets under the old charter that they were entitled to a renewal. Mr. Young compelled them, however, to take out a $50,000 charter instead of $25,000.

SUNDAY BALL LAWFUL.

Law and Order League Criticised in Court's Ruling at Muskogee.

Muskogee, Okla., Aug. 3.—Justice Bailey today decided against the Law and Order League on the Sunday baseball case and released the Muskogee and Pittsburg teams under arrest for playing on Sunday.

After delivering his opinion he took occasion to score members of the Law and Order League, who, he intimated, had approached him in an effort to secure an opinion contrary to the law. He said such persons were no better than perjurers.

The decision clearing the ball players was based on the grounds that a city cannot pass an ordinance which conflicts with the state laws, and that the state laws do not prohibit Sunday baseball.

GANNON'S LASH MAY FALL ON INSURGENTS

SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE EXPECTED TO DEAL THE PLUMS.

Predicted that Those Who Stood for Ring Rule Will Get the Goods.

Washington, Aug. 4.—Republican insurgents in the house who have dared to conscientiously represent the interests of their constituents and stand pat for a reduction of tariff duties, will tomorrow feel the keen lash of "Uncle Joe" Cannon's whip.

Committee assignments for the next session of congress are to be made and it is generally understood that the insurgent members are to suffer. Several chairmen may be ousted for those who stood by Cannon and his ring during the consideration of the tariff. To say the least it is hardly probable that the great "King I AM" of the house will favor either of the insurgents with committee chairmanships and it is more than probable that they get any reward for guarding the peoples interests, it will be through insignificant berths on committees.

There is general unrest in Washington tonight among the opponents of the ring rule.

One of the chief insurgents who will feel the leader's whip most keenly is Representative Gardner of New Jersey, who by virtue of his long service on committee on postoffices and postroads, should be made chairman during the next session of congress. However, Cannon has forgotten this length of service, because of Gardner's stubborn stand with democrats on several tariff schedules and the New Jersey man will be relegated in favor of Rep. Weeks of Massachusetts, who it is said, is not in sympathy with the postal savings bank proposition soon to be an issue.

It is learned from reliable sources that Rep. Pollock of New Jersey, who has been chairman of the committee on banking and currency, will be deposed and a Cannon man placed at the head. Rep. Davidson of Wisconsin, chairman of the committee on railways and canals, it is rumored, will suffer the same fate as other insurgents.

TRIPLE TRAGEDY.

Man Near Chickasha Tries to Murder Himself and Two Others.

Chickasha, Aug. 4.—After shooting and killing his brother-in-law, Jack Thompson and wounding Mrs. Thompson, his sister, P. T. McDonald, aid put a bullet through his own temple last night.

The tragedy occurred at the Thompson home a mile and a half northeast of Chickasha.

Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. McDonald were in a cow shed milking, according to the story of the latter, and the two men were in a barn lot nearby when the woman heard a shot and Thompson cried for help. Mrs. Thompson rushed to the scene and McDonald shot her in the breast.

Mrs. McDonald then ran a quarter of a mile to the home of J. W. Berryhill who notified officers.

Mrs. McDonald says her husband acted queer all day and she thinks he was temporarily insane. The McDonalds lived in a tent on Thompson's yard coming here three months ago from New Mexico. They formerly lived at Denison, Tex.

George McDonald, son of the man who did the shooting says he was on the river fishing when he heard the shots. He knew of no trouble between the parties, but there are rumors of a difficulty. Only two chambers of McDonald's gun were empty although there were four wounds in the victims. A Winchester and two empty shells were found under a porch fifty yards from the scene of the shooting. George McDonald is held pending investigation by coroner's jury.

Capt. Hines in Town.

Capt. C. M. Hines, veteran Oklahoma newspaper man, formerly owner of McAlester Capital, was an appreciated caller at the News office today.

The writer could well nigh see tears in the eyes of this honest and experienced newspaper veteran's eyes, as there were recounted to him the trials and vicissitudes of operating a daily publication in the city of Ada. He owned and operated the leading daily of McAlester a great many years and there witnessed several contemporaries succumb and bite the dust of the newspaper grave yard. He finally joined the innumerable caravan.

That the Captain maintained throughout a strict business integrity and continued after the grave yard visitation a man of substantial business pursuit, reflects all the more creditably on him.

COURT OF APPEALS INVOLVED.

Jurisdiction Question Raised in Case of A. N. Byers.

Guthrie, Ok., Aug. 4.—Jurisdiction of the Criminal Court of Appeals as a tribunal of exclusive appellate jurisdiction in cases pending before statehood is involved in a motion filed with the Supreme Court today by attorneys for A. N. Byers, convicted of killing his wife. The case was transferred from the Territorial courts to the state supreme court, and upon organization of the criminal court of appeals was sent to the latter. Byers received a sentence of fifteen years, which the criminal court affirmed, and recently was denied a rehearing. Presiding Judge Furman announced the court's harmless error doctrine in the opinion, denying rehearing. For the reason that the case came from the Territorial Supreme Court, the motion sets out that the criminal court of appeals does not under the constitution and the act creating the court, have exclusive jurisdiction of criminal cases, save those appealed to it from the county and district courts of the state, and ask that the Supreme court's order transferring the Byers case be set aside. If the motion is sustained, it is believed all cases pending at the time of statehood, save those decided by the supreme court, will be affected.

Knife Fight at Church.
Young Fred Elam, son of Mr. Will Elam of Love Lady was in the city this morning having his nine knife wounds dressed by Dr. Runyan received Sunday night while at church. Some of the wounds are serious though not dangerous. They range from an under slit in the left ear to deep thrusts in the arm, shoulder and back. The young man with whom he fought, he relates is named Miller. The difficulty occurred at the edge of the arbor it appears while mourners were being called. Evidently these young fellows would have been good subjects for the straw at the bench.

The Surprise Store is one of the pioneers in the Ada field, and while they sell goods at a reasonable price, claiming to be "the people who put the price down," this purchase of a permanent home is evidence of financial success and a tribute to Mr. Simpson's genius and good business judgement. Mr. Simpson also recently purchased excellent residence property on 17th street, and is now without question a permanent fixture in Ada.

HASKELL'S STATEMENT ON BELLAMY SALARY

DEFENDS PAYMENT TO LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR

Calls Attention to Report of Banking Board Made to Legislature Last January.

Guthrie, Ok., Aug. 4.—In another statement issued today Gov. Haskell defends the payment of a salary to Lieut. Gov. Bellamy as chairman of the board, and calls attention to a speech made by a member of the legislature criticizing the board for its action. The report of the banking board made to the legislature last January, the governor says, revealed the fact that the lieutenant governor was drawing $125 per month as chairman of the board, and, he adds, the point should have been raised then. The statement says:

"The first legislature passed a banking law that has been approved by the people throughout the union. That law created a state banking board to have charge of the strictest enforcement of the provisions of the banking law. All the members of this board are state officers, which includes the governor, state auditor, state treasurer, president of the board of agriculture and the lieutenant governor. The first four named state officers are paid by the people of the state for giving their entire time to such duties as the law may impose upon them, but the lieutenant governor receives a nominal salary for a portion of his time only, as the law which fixes his salary as lieutenant governor gives him no other duties except to preside over the state senate when in session, and to act as governor on the few days in the year that the governor himself may be absent. Thus, as the law creating the office of lieutenant governor contemplated demanding but a small part of his time, his salary was made very small. Later the legislature gave him the additional duty of serving as a member of the state banking board, which they certainly had no right to expect him to devote time to this new duty except for a reasonable compensation, just as several other states which have put similar duties upon the lieutenant governor and pay him for discharging the same. We have noticed that one of the members of the legislature takes exception to any expenses being paid by the state banking board either for compensation to the lieutenant governor or the employment of a secretary or anything else.

"The law as first passed reads: 'The expense of administering the depositors' guaranty fund by the state banking board shall be paid from said fund.' Later in the first session of the legislature this section was amended so as to read as follows: 'It shall be the duty of the bank commissioner to pay over to the treasurer of the state banking board all fees collected by him and said banking board shall use the same or so much thereof as may be necessary in paying the expenses incurred in making examinations of banks subject to any of the banking laws of this state and other expenses incurred by said banking board in the administration of said depositors' guaranty fund.' So it would plainly appear that the gentleman in question is mistaken as to there being no law authorizing the state banking board to pay such expenses as may be found necessary in administering the law, and he certainly will not question that the state banking board, including Mr. Bellamy, have done their work well, as the results of the operation of the state banking law clearly show, and also that the board has been so economical that only a portion of the fees collected are required to pay the expenses.

"We would also call attention to the fact that on the 5th day of last January, when the legislature opened its sixty-seven-day session, the governor's report to the legislature included a full copy of the report of banking board for previous year up to Dec. 31, and that in each month's expenses as set forth in an itemized account Mr. Bellamy's monthly compensation was clearly set forth as paid to George W. Bellamy, and all the members of the legislature had this report before them for the very purpose of amending the law if it occurred to them that the board was not proceeding properly. This report of the banking board was printed at the time and a printed copy given to each and every member of the legislature. That would have been just the very time for any member of the legislature who believes the lieutenant governor should not be paid for his work to have introduced a bill in the legislature to stop further payments, and a speech in support of such a bill at that time would have been much more effective than to have waited until after the legislature had adjourned."

LABOR LEADERS CLASH AT TULSA CONVENTION

RUPTURE COMES LIKE A BOLT OF LIGHTNING FROM CLEAR SKY.

The Grievance Committee Charges Fraud Then Kettle Begins to Boil.

Tulsa, Okla., Aug. 4.—After two days of monotonous sessions, scarcely enlivened with anything showing the evidences of a contest which has been waging under the surface between the old organization and the new, the adherents of "Little Pete" Hanraty and the adherents of J. Luther Langston, a bomb was thrown into the convention of the Oklahoma State Federation of Labor this morning. The grievance committee read a communication filed with them, charging fraud in the recent referendum election of officers in the Lehigh campaign, which, in case it is endorsed by the convention, will make the election of the new officers illegal and cause to be elected by the convention new officials to take their places.

Following the reading of this complaint the grievance committee adjourned and their recommendation, whichever way it may hit, will be voted upon by the house later. Consequently an element of uneasiness is pervading the assembly and considerable subdued excitement is in the air, for there is a difference of opinion among delegates as to what turn things may take.

Among the resolutions passed is one which advocates the establishment of an oil refinery by the state in the interest of producers who at present have no market for their oil. Another resolution urges the adoption of a universal label which shall be used on all products of union labor. Still other resolutions urge a closer affiliation of the local unions, state ownership or control of all public utilities and the keeping of the state constitution intact.

This morning the convention listened to an address by Editor M. M. Hobbs of the Oklahoma City News, who spoke to the convention on the relation of the newspapers to labor unions. Mr. Hobbs eulogized the state constitution, saying that it was practically written by the labor unions of the state.

Other speakers this morning were "chummy" Fields of Oklahoma City, fraternal delegate from the engineers union and C. H. Ruth, fraternal delegate from the brick layers' union.

The convention closed at 4:30. Tomorrow when it is expected the matter of legality of the newly elected officers probably will be settled.

Narrow Escape from Mob.

Cincinnati, Aug. 3.—The Rev. Frank R. English says he was compelled to leave the town of Ethel, Miss., because he shook hands with a negro presiding elder of an African M. E. conference. The Rev. Mr. English has declined the presidency of Rust university, a large Methodist institution for colored folk situated at Holly Springs, Miss.

Mr. English declares he was warned by a prominent citizen at Ethel not to speak at the colored conference and that after delivering an address he was compelled to take refuge from the mob of whites by secreting himself in a railroad station.

TO INVESTIGATE LYNCHING.

Grand Jury to Be Called at Platte City After Advice From Jefferson City.

Platte City, Mo., Aug. 3.—After Judge Burns of the Platte county circuit court has heard from Attorney General Elliott W. Major as to what part the state wishes to take in investigating the lynching of George Johnson here Monday morning for shooting J. W. Moore of Smithville, June 20, a grand jury will be summoned. The report reached here today that a special prosecutor would be sent from Jefferson City to conduct the inquiry, and Judge Burns will await direct word from the governor or attorney general. If the state does not wish to participate directly, Judge Burns will call a jury and the case will go on in the usual way. No official notice has been received that Governor Hadley has offered a reward of $300 for the arrest and conviction of members of the mob.

There is no excitement and very little talk of the lynching now. Platte City seems to be forgetting the affair as a matter of course. No attempt is being made to get information as to the identity of members of the mob, and more will be made until official advice is received from Jefferson City.

BYARS CASE AGAIN.

Famous Kiowa County Case Comes Into Limelight Again.

Guthrie, Okla., Aug. 4.—The A. N. Byars case from Kiowa county, again came sensationally into the limelight today, when attorneys for the defendant filed a motion to set aside the order of the supreme court by which the case was originally transferred to the criminal court of appeals.

Byars is serving a 15 year sentence for killing his wife. Presiding Justice Furman of the criminal court of appeals last week denied Byars a rehearing in an opinion which instantly attracted attention over the United States, being a reiteration of the stand taken by the high criminal court that criminals should not have their cases reversed because of harmless errors not prejudicial to their cause.

The Puzzle Craze.

"One of the curious things about this revival of the puzzle craze," remarked the man who notices little things, "is the fact that I never have met a man or woman who plays with the cut-up pictures nowadays who knew them as a child. Whenever I have commented on the superior beauty and difficulty of the present-day puzzles over the ones I knew as a little boy the invariable response has been: 'It is curious, but I never saw any when I was a child.' I don't just know how my youthful social standing could have compared with theirs, but I do know the old-time picture puzzles were sold in the best shops in my city at that time."

The Unreal World of Comfort.

The more plain and satisfying our state appears, the more we may know that we are living in an unreal world. For the real world is not satisfying. The real world is full of bracing bewilderments and brutal surprises. Comfort is the blessing and the curse of the English, and of Americans. With them it is a loud comfort, a wild comfort, a screaming and capering comfort; but comfort at bottom still. For there is but an inch of difference between the cushioned chamber and the padded cell.—Gilbert K. Chesterton.

The Persian Child's Rag Doll.

Persian children play almost exclusively with rag dolls, the clothes of which are put on to stay. She misses the pleasure of the American girl who dresses and undresses her doll most of the time. A doll from the Sudan is cleverly described as a "rag and a bone and a hank of hair," and Sudanese dolls are characteristically greasy and dirty—would make cold shivers run up the kid backs of any French doll who saw them.—Bohemian Magazine.

NOW COLLEGE GIRL.

MISS HELEN TAFT STILL PURSUING HER STUDIES.

Will Have Little Time for the Frivolities of Washington Society—College Customs to Rule at White House.

When Miss Helen Taft, Bryn Mawr college for women, 1912, watched the inauguration of her father as president of the United States, the college girl came into her own indeed, into the highest social position in America. For the next four years, at least, the college girl will be featured in White House life.

The college girl of to-day is distinctive. And certainly Miss Helen Taft is just a little different from any other president's daughter who has gathered young friends around her in the capital's first mansion.

The college girl is bookish yet not a bookworm or blue-stocking. The college girl is grammatical in speech, but she has the jolliest, chummiest jargon of slang that ever rolled from under a pink tongue. The college girl is a tremendous reader, keeping right in touch with all the movements of the day, yet she never neglects outdoor sports. The college girl is a social creature, but she uses society and does not allow society to use her. And above all things she dresses simply and does not marcel her hair.

All these things are Miss Helen Taft—and more, and there is no doubt that she means to establish college customs and entertain at the White House.

Just 13 is the new daughter of the White House, and she will spend comparatively little time in Washington, for she is now in her sophomore year at Bryn Mawr and will have only such holidays as fall to the lot of other students. Incidentally, Bryn Mawr is not the sort of college where a girl can shirk work or skip classes or lectures, so Miss Helen Taft's trips to Washington will be infrequent and brief.

This daughter of the new president is five feet, eight inches in height, with her mother's slenderness of figure and her father's dimpled chin. She has clear, rather deep blue eyes and a trick of looking right through you with them. Blue is her favorite color, dark blue for street wear, dainty pale colorings for house and evening frocks, and just a touch of blue somewhere if her gown be white.

If Miss Taft has her own way, the tennis courts will not depart from the White House grounds with the passing of the Roosevelt regime, for she is an ardent tennis player. She also swims and rides horseback, and keeps up a good pace when walking with brother or father.

She inherits her father's keen sense of humor, and his philosophic disposition, which is extremely fortunate in a young woman who, as the president's daughter, must face many trying situations and, perhaps, some unnecessary and unjust criticisms. From her mother she inherits extremely good taste in dress, and the fastidious will never be offended by seeing her appear in garish color combinations, wearing jewelry and ornately dressing her hair, as many girls of the day do. Despite the fact that the Tafts have always been well to do, Miss Helen was taught by her mother to cook and to sew. Her domestic accomplishments are not limited to making fudge and Welsh rabbit in a college study, but she could step into her mother's shoes in an emergency and run the Taft menage without a hitch.

Unquestionably Washington's younger set will gain much by the acquisition of Miss Taft.

Senators Ride on Own Line.

With the longest list of directors of any rapid-transit line in the United States, the United States Senate Underground Transportation Company began business in Washington the other day. The line is a subway system, and its equipment at this time consists of one automobile. The route is an air line underground between the senate basement and the new senate office building. Every senator is a director, making a list of 92.

Members of the house heard of the transportation facilities of the senate and almost foamed at the mouth. The house has a subway to its office building, but up to this time its members have walked. Originally intended for a short electric line, the subway has not yet been equipped. When representatives learned that the senators were taking "joy rides" to and from the senate and the new building their indignation burst forth in flame.

The automobile used is open at either end and has a place for the operator in the center. It will carry ten thin or eight stout senators.

Librarian Kept Busy.

John J. Boobar, librarian of the house of representatives, is preparing a card index of the Congressional Record. To index the speeches of the Fifty-ninth congress alone required more than 20,000 cards. Mr. Boobar was appointed librarian from Minnesota and brought to his position a remarkable fund of energy. He says that no attaché of congress is worked so hard as to be in danger of nervous prostration from overwork and that he thought the best way to utilize his spare time was by doing something useful.
